

Time Again

A monthly publication of the Fallbrook Historical Society

Fallbrook Historical Society celebrated the 2018 Avocado Festival with a downtown storefront presence this year. Located at 232 South Main, the Historical Society was able to enhance their displays with a one-day “mini-museum”, featuring FHS docents, historical photos and information including story-boards about Fallbrook’s railroad history, old Main St., the historic Reche Schoolhouse and adobe reconstruction project, as well as features about the history and legacy of William Pittenger. Additionally, a video explaining the early origins of Fallbrook was looped throughout the day, with a centerpiece attraction of a running model train. It was great to see many old and new friends who stopped in to visit and support us.
